CWM attorneys are adept at high stakes business cases. We recognize that business disputes can jeopardize a client's profitability and reputation – sometimes permanently – so we work quickly with our clients to achieve favorable outcomes, whether through negotiation, litigation, arbitration, mediation or other means. We are not afraid to take big cases to trial in the best interest of our clients.

Our work includes complex contract cases, technology disputes, business conspiracy cases, business interference claims, commercial litigation, injunctions, attachments, property disputes, shareholder disputes, corporate dissolutions, license disputes, confidentiality claims, non-compete claims and a host of other matters. We represent a wide range of businesses and entrepreneurs from small start-ups to Fortune 500 companies.

We also serve as co-counsel or local counsel in the Eastern District of Virginia, including for patent and other intellectual property cases. Our attorneys have substantial federal court experience.
