This Week's Highlight

Our favorite report this week is the team at IntelligentUAS showing different outlandish ways to cook a Turkey using a drone! Some of the methods should not be attempted on your own, but entertaining nonetheless!

Space Startup Aims to Launch Cubesats on Balloon-Lofted Rockets

Los Angeles-based startup Leo Aerospace is developing a system that will loft bantam spacecraft using a rocket dropped from a giant hot-air balloon about 60,000 feet (18,000 meters) above Earth's surface.
